Your Results

We measure your success

Ask an advertising agency how they measure the success of their advertising and watch their eyes glaze over. Typical Ad agencies don't do any advertising analytics, not because they don't want to, but because they can't.

At Adreka, we have developed a revolutionary system that combines direct response advertising with state-of-the-art tracking technology.

We don't keep it for ourselves. We supply you with all the data of your advertising program. You receive valuable customer information including phone numbers, call times, durations, and available customer names and addresses.

Your Pledge

Only one percent of your revenue

We have developed this program to earn your business and prove ourselves to you. All it takes is one percent of your annual revenue to take part in this special opportunity.

It doesn't end there. If at the end of this initial program you are happy with your results and our services, we will continue the program for as long as you like. And with the creative cost out of the way, that only means more dollars towards your ad placement and more times in front of your customers.

What you get for a drop in the bucket:

- A great Ad... It's yours.
- Put on TV... Unbelievable prices.
- Full report... Measured results.
